Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Friday 19 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly dry, bright Saturday. Cloudy, damp north and west coast.

This Evening and Tonight:
Mainly dry with the best of the cloud breaks developing through more central and eastern areas. The most extensive cloud across the north and northwest with some mist and drizzle. A chilly night where skies remain clear.

Saturday:
Much of mainland will be dry with sunny spells, best in the east and feeling quite warm. Mostly cloudy in the north and along west coast with a little drizzle.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Staying mostly dry and settled although rather cloudy at times, best of the brightness in the east. A little rain across the north and west. Feeling pleasant in any sunshine.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.